

AUCTION SALES.
ELISON, POMEROY & CO.
Auctioneers, 84 and 86 Randolph-st.
THE AUCTION SALE
OF THE FINE STOCK
ATCHES, JEWELRY,
ilver and Silver-Plated Ware,
monds, Fancy Goods,
onze, Clocks, Etc.

H. MILLER'S,
61 WASHINGTON-ST.,
Every Day this Week, at 10:30 A.M. and 2:30 P.M.
ELISON, POMEROY & CO., Auctioneers.

J. H. FRENCH will conduct the sale.

MARBLE MANTELS.

Shureman & Hand Mantel Co will make their First Sale of the Year at their Warehouses,

Cornell Michigan-av. and Van Buren-st.

TUESDAY MORNING, April 20, at 10 o'clock

will be offered the finest display of all the New and Elegant

Marble, Slate, and Marbelized Iron Mantels

Mantels in Italian, Tennessee,

Champlain, and other Marbles.

The whole Collection on exhibition in the Warehouses on and before date of Sale.

Widowers and Parties requiring notes invited to examine and select.

The sale will be unreserved.

ELISON, POMEROY & CO.,

Auctioneers.

TUESDAY MORNING, April 20, at 10 o'clock,

AT RESIDENCE

69 Michigan-av.,

will sell without reserve the Entire Furnishings of Residence, 12 rooms well furnished.

NEW FURNITURE,

and Chamber Suits, Wardrobes, Bureau, Washing-suites, Linen, Bedding, Dressing-tables, etc. Many articles sold,

including everything usually found in a First-Class

dwelling.

ELISON, POMEROY & CO.,

Auctioneers.

MONDAY MORNING, April 21, at 9:30 o'clock,

AT ROOMS.

We will sell without Reserve a large and desirable out-of-the-way residence.

NEW FURNITURE,

and Chamber Suits, Wardrobes, Bureau, Washing-suites, Linen, Bedding, Dressing-tables, etc. Many articles sold,

including everything usually found in a First-Class

dwelling.

ELISON, POMEROY & CO.,

Auctioneers.

DENTIST'S OFFICE OUTFIT AT AUCTION.

day morning, April 21, 11:30 a.m. at our Auction

One Dentist's Office Outfit, Underwear, Furniture, Fixtures, Pictures, etc. Entire outfit of Dentist's office; also a number of Valuable Specimens.

ELISON, POMEROY & CO., Auctioneers.

By W. M. A. BUTTERS & CO.,

AUCTIONEERS, 118 & 120 Wabash-av.

BITTERS & CO.'S REGULAR TRADE SALE

TAPE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

REGULAR MADE CLOTHING,

For Men's, Boys', and Youth's Wear,

FURNISHING GOODS,

House Goods, Linens, Nottingham Lace Curtain, Edgings, Embroideries, Hosiery, Novelties, Gloves, etc. All made up to order.

THURSDAY MORNING, April 20, at 10 o'clock,

At our Salerooms, 118 and 120 Wabash-av.

W. M. A. BUTTERS & CO., Auctioneers.

EDWARD & CO.'S REGULAR SATURDAY SALE,

At their Spectacle Salerooms,

118 & 120 Wabash-av., cor. Madison-st.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS,

Saturday Morning, April 22,

The entire contents of a first-class dwelling, including Furniture, Velvet, Drapes, and other articles, Piano, &c.

HANDSOME OCTAGON

Bridge (Stone-Trimmed) Dwelling-House

68 West Washington

AT AUCTION.

Tuesday, April 25, 1876, at 3 o'clock p.m.

ON THE PREMISES.

The house is finely finished and substantially built the building is in the present owner's hands entirely modern improvement.

The sale is to be made, and very early term.

The house can be inspected at any time.

W. M. A. BUTTERS & CO., Auctioneers.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

A choice office (two rooms), second floor. Also, an elegant apartment of four rooms (corner) on the third floor, at a low price, situated along the Avenue.

L. H. FAIRCHILD, Room 8, 103 State-st.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

Office on second floor, well lighted, and arranged

for Law, Real Estate, Loan or Rock Agencies. Come

and look at them. Apply to Room 8, 146 Madison-st.

H. O. STONE.

TO RENT.

CRIMINAL NEWS.

John Dolan, the Murderer of the New York Merchant Noe, to Die To-Day.

The Remarkable Circumstances Attending His Crime Fully Detailed.

Manner of the Murderer's Apprehension and His Trial.

White Persons Murdered by Indians Near Custer City.

NOEN MURDERS.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

New York, April 20.—John Dolan will be hanged at the Tombs to-morrow, for the murder of James H. Noe.

The circumstances attending on Dolan's crime, capture, and conviction were sufficiently sensational to merit extended notice.

James H. Noe was the senior partner of the firm of James H. Noe & Sons, brick manufacturers and dealers, at 273 Greenwich Street, where they occupied a large, two-story building, strongly fenced, but with a dimly-lighted entrance on the roof.

At No. 273 was a tenement-house, and at 277 a new building was in course of erection.

The contents of the store, especially the fine brickles and ornithic feathers, were very valuable; and on Sunday it was the custom of one of the younger members of the firm to visit the building and see that all was safe.

Sunday, Aug. 22, 1875, both of the sons were at home, and the father, a man of 58—then to the second son, Mr. Eugene Noe.

He looked the door and proceeded leisurely through the building.

As he reached the third story, he heard footsteps in the loft above, which was occupied as a manufactory, and, running up stairs, saw

the legs of a man

disappearing up the ladder that led to the suite in the roof.

Without any thought of fear, Mr. Noe sprang after the burglar and seized him by the leg as he was getting out on the roof.

The burglar, however, had no time to defend, and descended the ladder.

At its foot was a bench, on which he sat several "paean-toms," each about 15 inches long, and weighing some 5 pounds.

Recognizing his temerity in thus seizing a man much more powerful than himself, Mr. Noe prepared to catch up one of the iron bars as a weapon; but the burglar was too prompt for him, and, grabbing the bar from the iron, struck it down with such violence that the iron bar struck the skin on the head—this time fracturing the skull.

Noe again swooned; and, when the burglar, who had been a boy, and was robbing his hands, then took a drink of water; but the man repaid him.

"No, son, I don't want for that."

Mr. Noe again recovered consciousness; and the burglar, noting that he had lost his key for the safe, Mr. Noe said he should have it.

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder, and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

"I'm going to hang you."

Then disappeared up the ladder.

Mr. Noe walked away, in company with the brutal intruder,

and, when he met him in the street, the police thought they proceeded from a boarding-

house near by, and lost much time in trying to force an entry, which the proprietor of the house, however, refused to do.

Mr. Noe, however, was not to be beaten off so easily, and, having secured the fugitive, chafed him from the stains of blood, the burglar said, ominously:

terior as the circus closed, in on them. In such a short time it was only possible to see them on our immediate right and left, but we knew that elephants were racing to meet us from the opposite side.

As the huge circle tightened its coils, each link of which was an elephant, the space inside was rapidly filled with cheetahs, deer, other animals, which were allowed to break through and escape. The correspondent thus describes the death of the tiger which fell at the hands of the Prince:

"Immediately after two shots were heard close on the part of the lions when I was placed, and in half a minute a tiger appeared on ground which had apparently been open, moving in what looked like a circle around me, from the front, at a distance of 15 or 20 yards. It was evidently to me that he ran his waving shot, and he seemed minded to go at the elephants on our left, but he changed his mode of action, and to think best to consider the situation, the exclusion of a small natural shrubbery just out of sight, he turned and escaped."

"If there had been more before him, he would have surely 2,000 too high, and we hasten to correct the error before the two bummer newspaper concern discover it."

PERSONAL.

Miss Carr estimates the presents she received in Europe to be worth at least $50,000.

"Thebans of Chicago yesterday were sickened over the sale of cast silver.

"Yellow-countrymen: Don't take the change home and bury it in the back-yard."

The friends of Mr. Brown in Boston propose to march him in the Cradle of Liberty one of these nights.

Miss Foy, daughter of the tragedian, will be a member of Mapleton's American opera company.

Since boyhood Mr. Thomas Carlyle has "never thought of the practice of vivisectioning animals but with horror."

Mr. John Boyle O'Reilly and the Archbishop of Boston have bought the Boston Post, lately owned by Donisthorpe.

Sprague says, rather sharply, that "it is a nation's gift to possess to be able to say nothing at extreme length."

Mr. Beacher changed the subject of his Boston lecture from "The Ministry of Wealth" to "Religion and Education."

Will it not be said that "Money makes the Mayor go," if Colvin relinquishes the Mayoralty when the election comes?

The Rev. Mr. Lathrop, of Amherst, Mass., a classmate of Congressman Seelye, has been arraigned before the church for brutally abusing his family.

John P. Hale when a student at Bowdoin College translated Diodorus Siculus, qui capit, habet. "Well begun, half done." Hale is later noted as having had his head shaved.

The King of Greece has sent a letter of condolence to the Queen of England, and the latter has conveyed it to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe.

Mr. Robert C. Winthrop, President of the Washington Monument Association, has prepared a design for the completion of the monument which has been adopted by the Association. It is proposed to abandon the original plan which contemplates a temple or pavilion and to erect a simple shaft 300 feet high.

A writer who seems to be well informed on the subject writes to the New York Graphic concerning the new play of "Twins," now running at Walck's Theatre. "The story is ingeniously plotted, and the scenes are well written by Mr. Wheeler, who is a very clever production, full of wit and repartee, and构造; but the plot, while being his first dramatic venture, Mr. Wheeler permitted a friend to play it to his serious detriment, as those who read it in its original form unanimously agree."

Mr. Richard A. Proctor writes to the news papers in explanation of the current report that he maligned the American people in a letter to an English journal describing a dinner at Des Moines. He says that he merely "mentioned the behavior of a few individuals" and that he was not one of the Directors, refused him (Harrison) to withdraw his resolution because "it would impeach Mr. Blaine." Mr. Proctor added: "I expect to go to Washington about the middle of June, and then make further arrangements as to what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business. Thereon Mr. Harrison repeated that the fact was as heretofore published, that as a Government Director of the Union Pacific Road, some three years since, he had been appointed Assistant-Secretary of the Executive Board of the order of Washington, D. C.; F. E. Suckorh of Adiran; and C. M. Crosswell of Adrian. Mr. Collier has been State Treasurer for three years, and is now a member of the Board of Commissioners as a man of integrity, just to all classes, whether political friends or foes. His high sense of honor placed him in an eminent position, and he was appointed to the Board of Commissioners, and, as far as I can learn, he will continue to oppose him, and, if he is not chosen, he will be chosen by another."

Compared with this colossal hunt, arranged by the mighty Indian Nimrod, the ordinary sportsman seems tame indeed. One of the most satisfactory features is the fact that the murderous work of the Prince among the tigers was a blessing to the people who are liable to be devoured by the "man-eaters," and whose hordes are constantly the victims of those tigers, who prefer beef, mutton, and pork to the flesh of men, women, and children. Notwithstanding the fact that they are provided with teeth, claws, and canines, and must have food to satiate their appetites, there will be a general feeling of satisfaction that Justice has overtaken a few of these creatures, and that the Prince of Wales has shown himself to be of some use in the world. Princes as a rule are as impudent as tigers, and sometimes more troublesome. When it happens, therefore, that they perform an act that is of popular interest, the fact is worth recording, although it may be nothing more dignified than the killing of half-a-dozen tigers.

The grandest "Spanish land-grant" suit in the history of California, in behalf of the heirs of the Duke of Alba, was recently decided, when it was overthrown by Santa Anna, the master of Mexico. The claim to six twenty square leagues, comprising nearly seven countries in California, which was granted him by the Mexican Congress in recognition of his services in the Mexican war of independence, and which is claimed was located in 1845, prior to the acquisition of Alta California, as it was then styled, by the United States. ITINERARY was shot in 1823, and the claimants are Madame Hartmann, who two or three times came to the United States and visited at George Washington, D. C., where the grandson of the Emperor and his claim to this immense domain is now at school. He may live to see the end of the big lawsuit begun in his behalf, but if he does he will likely be along in his second century.

The bunnies yield with a bad grace. At the meeting of the Town Board of South Chicago, on Wednesday, PHILLIPS and GLEASON appeared in the courtroom to ask for the appointment of their names to the list of assessors, and generally acted as if they were the Assessors, and had never been bouned for the frauds. Of course he was not recognized, but nevertheless impudently obtruded himself. His think it is smart to him to come to the Town Clerk, and therefore makes himself especially offensive. It is getting near to have the two nuisances abated. The tale of humbug is broken in Chicago.

In a paragraph yesterday about the Aldermanic election in the Fifteenth Ward, Mr. Da Puy was described as a "trickster" which some of the citizens assure us is erroneous. Our information had been that he had sold out Sirro, but it seems to be a mistake. Mr. Da Puy is reported to be an honorable man, and a good son, but in trying to carry Tom Storke he was crushed under the unbearable weight of that summer.

The two number newspaper concerns of this charge THE TRIBUNE with failing to prevent the defeat of several Republican candidates, such as Tom Storke, Frank Warren, and Clark Livermore, which they might have done. The Tribune undoubtedly a powerful and influential paper, as they allow, but it had no strength enough to save these candidates. No mortal aid could have availed anything. HUMBUCKS of course could not have elected them.

THE THREE organs continue to grow over the result of the election in Chicago last Tuesday. RACHEL Mourning for her children, friends slain in great numbers, and their chieftain, Hold-On, was knocked higher than a kite across these tears and lamentations.

The little Revenue-hunting newspaper has been should not take the result of the case because it because its big hummer pal is all torn up in its mind. There are real reasons for the fall of the big, hummer organ, but none for the morning after the great mass-meeting in Kenosha. Inside, Tim Hanson said that 100 citizens had assembled and passed resolutions demanding that H. D. Colvin should be the one he was usurping, and they also called to support the Hon. THOMAS HOWES as successor. We committed an error in saying

POLITICAL.

Harrison, of Indianapolis, Stifft-Necked in the Blaine Bond Matter.

He Will Proceed to Washington and Press an Investigation.

Michigan Politics--Preferences for the Presidency--State Candidates.

Call for the Illinois Democratic State Convention.

President Grant Will Preserve Strict Neutrality in the Presidential Contest.

THE BOND SCANDAL--AN INTERVIEW WITH MR. HARRISON.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 20.—While here I improved the opportunity to call upon Mr. C. H. Harrison, the government Director of the Union Pacific Railroad, who met the investigation of the Boston Post and other papers of worthless stock of the Little Rock & Fort Smith Railroad Company, which it is charged went to Congressman James G. Blaine. There was no difficulty in finding Mr. Harrison. His house has been one of the leading institutions of the city for a quarter of a century, and during the crisis of all that time has never once suspended or failed to meet its obligations promptly on demand. He is one of the solid business men of this city, takes no part in politics, and further than to vote for the Repub. ticket, has no political organization of any kind. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"the old Tippecanoe," and has long been one of the leading men of this city. I found him in manner and appearance a thorough business man—keeps quick, and direct in speech, pronounces distinctly, and displays frank and straightforward in what he had to say. When I had introduced myself and my business, reference was made to the statement in a Cincinnati Advertiser that Mr. Blaine would appear before a Congressional Committee, and make a full explanation of the bond business, and that he had devoted himself wholly to his banking business, in which he has been very successful. He is a grandson of President Harrison,—"

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Discounts Moderate, Deposits Low, and Business Quiet.

The Clearing-House and Bank Supervision--New York Exchange Weak.

Active Produce Markets--Provisions Weak--Grain Easter.

FINANCIAL.

Business in financial circles moved along in the well-worn channels of these days between two sessions. The demand for discounts was only moderate, but the demand for deposits was large, and the tendency to accumulate funds to maintain the first line of the loan market. Applications for loans were received from the country, but the necessities of the interior for advances have been about exhausted. The prospect of an early opening of the season has led to a general expectation that it will be possible to transact more business to market, gave rise to a more cheerful feeling in the loan market. The Board of Trade is borrowing lightly to carry stock. The volume of collections is still greatly complained of by business men, and is the cause of a large amount of pressure on the part of the miscellaneous customers of the banks for loans.

Rates of discount were 8½ per cent, with a concession in some quarters to independent borrowers on call with cash collateral.

"On the streets, business continues quiet, with good pass to the banks. Banks are full of cash.

New York exchange was weaker at 25¢ premium per unit.

The quotation in yesterday's paper read discount by mistake. It should have been premium.

There is very little news of currency.

THE CLEARING-HOUSE AND BANK SUPERVISION.

At the meeting of the Clearing-House yesterday the new rules proposed at the last meeting for the examination of the members came up. It was finally passed without an amendment. As originally drawn, the proposed rules were intended to examine the condition of any member who had an exposure to the Clearing-House Committee, they should "appoint or employ a suitable person or persons" to make it. As amended and adopted, the rule now requires that the examination shall be made by a committee of the Clearing-House, unless it is done so by the Committee. The rule suspending the procedure in case of default by a member to pay its Clearing-House balance was adopted, as proposed at the last meeting.

The Clearing-House now has ample opportunity to discharge any carelessness that should at any time manifest their predilections for hazardous banking. The National Bank Examiner is empowered by the Comptroller to report to the Clearing-House any member he may discover to be engaged in a dangerous business. The Clearing-House Committee is now authorized by the Clearing-House to examine at its discretion the condition of any member, National, State, or private. It is to be hoped that the occurrence of any such unfortunate collapses as have occurred here since the panic, may henceforth be avoided.

THE WISCONSIN NATIONAL BANKS.

We are on our credit, on our stability, that the National Banks of Wisconsin have not been examined by the Comptroller, and therefore we do not know the soundness details, as they have been made known, of the mismanagement of the First National Bank of La Crosse.

Such a state of affairs as is there uncovered would never arise, it may be safely said, if the Government of the National Bank act for the examination of the banks were fully extended. Such scandals as that at La Crosse and that here in the case of the Cook County National Bank have their origin in the neglect of the law by the officials bound to administer it. The subject of words has been a long time ago.

Curious and the new bank Inspector for that district, a gentleman of high character and fidelity. A few more such failures we may occur in this district in the last two or three years will bring the administration of the National Bank act into disrepute.

NOTES.

The banks were yesterday in filing the orders of currency correspondents for silver currency. Individuals were permitted at the Sub-Treasury to present for redemption only $100 in fractional currency, but the city banks have already $1,000 each, except the First National, which has $500. The banks of the country are large, and the novelty of the new money is evidently giving it a great popularity. How long this will last is another question. The weight of the silver coin can create as much inconvenience as gold.

NOTES--A POPULAR LOAD?

It is not easy to see why the Secretary of the Treasury, in offering $5,000,000 in the bonds held on account of the Alabama Indemnity awards, should have selected the bondholders, and not the public.

This limitation will offend the purpose of loans, purchases, bankers, or the syndicate; but it obviously shut out a very numerous class of private investors who would like to buy the bonds.

The proposition, however, is virtually made to the trade; and the effect must be to prevent a large number of dealers from getting otherwise obtained. An offer thus limited is sure to be preceded by a "ringing" of the market, so as to give the public a clear idea of what the price of the bonds will be, to follow by an effort to keep the price down.

NOTES--THE FEDERAL BOND.

The following were the receipts and shipments of the leading articles of produce in this city during the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock on Thursday morning:

RECEIPTS. SHIPMENTS.

1876. 1875. 1876. 1875.

Flour, bush. 11,092 7,654 7,655 8,765

Wheat, ton. 22,500 47,424 19,458

Barley, ton. 45,820 14,170 13,885 8,515

Oats, ton. 4,490 1,380 1,380 1,050

Rye, ton. 3,190 19 19 1,053

Corn, bush. 40,410 11,650 7,514 21,447

Fish, weas., lbs. 13,700 32,860 86,900 2,760

Beef, tons. 207,310 190,600 190,600 142,

Pork, bush. 75 75 75 1,382

Lard, bush. 38,300 74,852 34,000 5,000

Bacon, bush. 40,340 66,427 60,601 50,200

Butter, bush. 4,000 1,250 1,250 1,250

Dressed Lungs, 67 67 67 67

Cattle, No. 1. 5,876 4,771 3,887 2,721

Sheep, No. 1. 1,050 1,050 1,050 1,050

Hides, No. 1. 2,040 2,040 2,040 2,040

Hides, No. 2. 200 180 180 180

Hoof, bush. 18,840 5,000 5,000 5,000

Beef, tons. 2,714 2,714 2,714 10

Hay, tons. 40,420 1,250 1,250 1,250

Cattle, No. 1. 1,245,000 1,130,000 1,132,000 1,130,000

Shingles, No. 1. 1,000,000 675,000 1,16,600

Salt, bush. 500 250 250 1,100

Poultry, coop. 15 15 15 15

Chickens, No. 1. 2,000 2,000 2,000 2,000

Chicks, No. 1. 2,000 2,000 2,000 2,000

Chickens, No. 2. 250 250 250 250

Chicks, No. 3. 250 250 250 250

Deer, bush. 22,200 20 20 20

Deer, bush. 20 20 20 20

THE CITY.

GENERAL NEWS.

Hynes Becker, a pupil at the West Folk Street Primary School, fell from the front steps of his home yesterday morning and broke his left arm.

Pioneer's American Monthly for May, just out, has a well-written article on the Kinzie House, Chicago, and a fine wood-cut of the old Mansion and Fort Dearborn.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street (Janus Building), was, at 8 a.m., 63 degrees; at 10 a.m., 62; at 12 m., 62; at 4 p.m., 69; at 6 p.m., 63; Barometer, 8 a.m., 29.32.

Mr. Ezra F. Webster, for six years a confidential clerk in the employ of J. D. Easter & Co., was Wednesday stricken insensible while riding home in a buggy, and died late in the evening, aged 26 years.

An unknown man, poorly clad, was found dead at the corner of North avenue and Clark street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was taken to the Morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest to day.

S. F. Mason, one of the many Aldermanic candidates for the Board of Trade, takes exception to the statement that he ran as a Republican. He was nominated by a small club of independent voters independent of politics.

At noon yesterday, a boy named John McIntosh was run over by the cars at the Dix street crossing of the Northwestern Road, and had his legs so badly crushed as to necessitate amputation. He lives at No. 1 Leavenworth street.

The Sons of the American Revolution have removed their headquarters from 904 Cottage Grove avenue. Good coffee is served at the lowest prices. There are writing materials, books, magazines, and papers for the use of members.

The Citizens' Association have removed to their new quarters, Nos. 30 and 31 Merchants' Building, on the same floor as their former rooms. Bernard Callahan, Esq., is the new president of the club, and arranged to discuss all the outstanding indebtedness. They adjourned till Monday evening, when all the members of the club are requested to attend.

The Chicago Academy of Homeopathic Physicians and Surgeons held its regular meeting last evening, Dr. T. S. House, the President, in the chair. Dr. Helen J. Underwood reported a peculiar case which had come under her care, and Dr. George W. Smith gave an exposition for the ensuing year than took place, and the following gentlemen were chosen: President, Dr. T. S. Duncan; Vice-President, Dr. C. C. Sturtevant; Dr. H. C. Brewster; Dr. H. L. Jones; Dr. H. L. Underwood; Board of Governors, Drs. T. S. Hoyne, R. M. Tooker, C. H. Viles, T. D. Wadsworth, and W. M. Wilke. The meeting was adjourned.

The Hon. John B. Jones scanned a morning paper yesterday, and learned that Senator Canfield's Committee was looking into alleged irregularities in the office of United States Marshal for this district with Major M. A. C. Adams as head. This was more news, and he said that he was charged with receiving more money than was legal; that Deputies were nominally paid $4.50 for service work, but the Marshals made $600.00 per month. The Deputy, he said, wrote the rest of the remainder, and stole $20,000.00 in reply to a repetition of Colvin's charge again made in a Standard-Zeitung of this morning by a reporter, we desire to state the following facts, and offer the documents given below:

COLVIN.—He was in favor of a philosophical view of his defense, but was also in favor of doing the job up quick, in order that the new men might come in for a fair share of newspaper criticism.

ADDY.—During the day Mr. Jones was in response to a Tribune reporter's inquiries, said he did not know that any such investigation was going on at Washington. As for the charges, he said, "There was no more reason to doubt the truth of them than there was to doubt the truth of the stories which were widely published." The reason was, he thought, that they were concocted by persons desirous of injurying character. He had never received more than a few dollars, all of which he had charged illegal fees. He had never pocketed any difference, and the statement that he had made $22,000 or $30,000 to his alleged operation was of a piece with all the other equally false.

THE CENTENNIAL.—The Chicago Centennial Association met yesterday afternoon in Room 8, No. 170 State street. Mr. W. W. Jones, president of the chair and Mrs. Dodge officiated as Secretary.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Caldwell, on the Committee on Concerts, submitted their report, indicating that the first concert of the two courses will be given, one in the afternoon, admission 10 cents, and one in the evening, admission 25 cents, at McCormick Hall Saturday.

All the arrangements furnished by the committee, and all the expenses have been defrayed by kind-hearted individuals.

The Hon. John B. Jones was by the Secretary from Mrs. Pace of Marion, Ind., given an account of the Centennial work in that city.

Mrs. Teadale reported that the entertainment given for the benefit of the Association by St. Louis Chamber could be repeated if it was brought back.

Miss Agnes Warley volunteered to give some readings at the Centennial Concert, and Mrs. Mrs. Teadale also volunteered to lead enchantment to the view.

A letter from Mrs. Warley was read, stating that she had written to the Friends, to take up the articles to be forwarded to Philadelphia, and that she had secured the services of Miss Carrie Calfee for that purpose.

A letter was read from Mrs. Beveridge giving full and explicit instructions as to how articles were to be forwarded and what care should be taken of them, leaving others to the discretion of the Association, and the letter concluded with the following:

ALD. CLYDELAND.—It is in favor of going slow in the matter and acting everything very carefully, such as re-uniting the vote where it is demanded, and of declaring the vote in a legal manner. A week or two before the election.

Mr. S. Kirk is in favor of doing likewise, and wishes particularly that all outstanding business be cleared up.

Mr. E. E. Boynton presented a copy of the Review of Reviews, which he had translated into Revolutionary days. Mrs. Lemoyne coldly suggested that additional historic importance be attached to it, by saying that it told some of the history of the Revolution in a forcible and forcible moment.

SMALL CHANCE.—
THE RUSH FOR SILVER.

It is doubtful if the present generation will ever get over its present fascination for coin. So long has the American citizen been compelled to barter and buy dirty, filthy pieces of paper, representing unmeasured quantities of wealth, that a long period has elapsed since, during which silver has been freely coined, and the public have been content to pay out their loose coin for merchandise, providing they have any paper currency with them. But the era of silver money has evidently arrived.

Miss Christine Olson, a woman cabinet-maker of great skill, exhibited a cabinet organ made completely by her with the exception of the pipes, which were made by a cabinet maker of New York, and a grand piano, and a ladies writing desk.

The Times reporter estimated a red penny, which Mrs. Lemoyne considers of great value as showing that Chicago reporters are not altogether bad. Mrs. Lemoyne coldly suggested that additional historic importance be attached to it, by saying that it told some of the history of the Revolution in a forcible and forcible moment.

AN ALMIRE OF LAW AND ORDER.

ECONOMY.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:

CHICAGO, April 20.—In my issue of last evening, you make several assertions in reference to me. First, that it was important to have a lawyer in the city, to maintain a strictly non-partisan attitude, deeming myself not the best man for the office. Thirdly, that I was induced by you to remain in the city.

I was nominated for the office without my knowledge or consent, while absent from the city, and greatly to my surprise, in the course of my stay here, was engaged in the practice of law, to maintain a strictly non-partisan attitude, deeming myself not the best man for the office. Fourthly, that I was an unfit man for the office. Thirdly, that I was induced by you to remain in the city.

Now, as to your article, I have never given Mr. Colvin any advice, nor have I ever given any advice to him or to his constituents, nor do I believe in the practice of law, to maintain a strictly non-partisan attitude, deeming myself not the best man for the office. Thirdly, that I was induced by you to remain in the city.

As to the assertion that I was induced by the Municipal Reform Club, I must say that I do not comprehend the meaning of the word induced, and I do not understand what you mean by the term "non-partisan." The Court and defendant met during the morning, when Warren expressed himself as extremely anxious for an immediate hearing before Justice Wallace. The Justice advised him to ask for a change of venue if he desired, but Warren would not listen to it, and expressed his thoughts as to having a hearing before Justice Wallace.

Between this time and 1 o'clock Warren saw A. S. True, and between the two was arranged that they should not for a change of venue to Justice Wallace. One o'clock came and went at "extra hazardous" rates.

no defendants were present, although the People's witnesses were on hand. At 3 o'clock True was ready with an affidavit stating that the defendant desired to be allowed a day to consult with his attorney, Mr. George Barry, agreed to this, and the parties moved across the street to Justice Haines' office. Here it was found that the cause had not been set for trial, and the matter was finally continued till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Ald. Warren gave a new bond of $300, with A. S. True as surety.

THE NEW ROAD.

The provision, Grain, and Stock Exchange took possession of its new building in the Court House square on Washington street, yesterday morning, and held its first session, when a full list of local bank and railway stocks were called. There was little business done, however, as the stock market has been to spend as much money as was possible, so as to allow the Commissioners good margins, and give the tax-payers as little as could be gotten along with and still make a profit.

Mr. C. G. Dixon, one of the most prominent candidates for Alderman at the recent election in the Thirteenth Ward, was the third highest in the returns made by the judges. Ald. Cleveland being first, and Wheeler, the Democratic nominee, standing next. Ald. Dixon's record in the various pavilions included a system of corridors at the north and south ends, for the use of convenience, pavilions and balmy breezes blowing over the prairies. The idea was a good and commendable one, and these corridors have been constructed. But the windows, which are open, are not large enough to catch them from all sides. The buildings run east and west, and face north and south. The architect, Mr. George Barry, agreed to this, and the parties moved across the street to Justice Haines' office. Here it was found that the cause had not been set for trial, and the matter was finally continued till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Ald. Warren gave a new bond of $300, with A. S. True as surety.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY.

The American Monthly for May, just out, has a well-written article on the Kinzie House, Chicago, and a fine wood-cut of the old Mansion and Fort Dearborn.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street (Janus Building), was, at 8 a.m., 63 degrees; at 10 a.m., 62; at 12 m., 62; at 4 p.m., 69; at 6 p.m., 63; Barometer, 8 a.m., 29.32.

Mr. Ezra F. Webster, for six years a confidential clerk in the employ of J. D. Easter & Co., was Wednesday stricken insensible while riding home in a buggy, and died late in the evening, aged 26 years.

An unknown man, poorly clad, was found dead at the corner of North avenue and Clark street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was taken to the Morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest to day.

S. F. Mason, one of the many Aldermanic candidates for the Board of Trade, takes exception to the statement that he ran as a Republican. He was nominated by a small club of independent voters independent of politics.

At noon yesterday, a boy named John McIntosh was run over by the cars at the Dix street crossing of the Northwestern Road, and had his legs so badly crushed as to necessitate amputation. He lives at No. 1 Leavenworth street.

The Sons of the American Revolution have removed to their new quarters, Nos. 30 and 31 Merchants' Building, on the same floor as their former rooms. Bernard Callahan, Esq., is the new president of the club, and arranged to discuss all the outstanding indebtedness. They adjourned till Monday evening, when all the members of the club are requested to attend.

THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

THE NEW COURTHOUSE.

The plan of the pavilions included a system of corridors at the north and south ends, for the use of convenience, pavilions and balmy breezes blowing over the prairies. The idea was a good and commendable one, and these corridors have been constructed. But the windows, which are open, are not large enough to catch them from all sides. The buildings run east and west, and face north and south.

The architect, Mr. George Barry, agreed to this, and the parties moved across the street to Justice Haines' office. Here it was found that the cause had not been set for trial, and the matter was finally continued till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Ald. Warren gave a new bond of $300, with A. S. True as surety.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY.

The American Monthly for May, just out, has a well-written article on the Kinzie House, Chicago, and a fine wood-cut of the old Mansion and Fort Dearborn.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street (Janus Building), was, at 8 a.m., 63 degrees; at 10 a.m., 62; at 12 m., 62; at 4 p.m., 69; at 6 p.m., 63; Barometer, 8 a.m., 29.32.

Mr. Ezra F. Webster, for six years a confidential clerk in the employ of J. D. Easter & Co., was Wednesday stricken insensible while riding home in a buggy, and died late in the evening, aged 26 years.

An unknown man, poorly clad, was found dead at the corner of North avenue and Clark street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was taken to the Morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest to day.

S. F. Mason, one of the many Aldermanic candidates for the Board of Trade, takes exception to the statement that he ran as a Republican. He was nominated by a small club of independent voters independent of politics.

At noon yesterday, a boy named John McIntosh was run over by the cars at the Dix street crossing of the Northwestern Road, and had his legs so badly crushed as to necessitate amputation. He lives at No. 1 Leavenworth street.

The Sons of the American Revolution have removed to their new quarters, Nos. 30 and 31 Merchants' Building, on the same floor as their former rooms. Bernard Callahan, Esq., is the new president of the club, and arranged to discuss all the outstanding indebtedness. They adjourned till Monday evening, when all the members of the club are requested to attend.

THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

THE NEW COURTHOUSE.

The plan of the pavilions included a system of corridors at the north and south ends, for the use of convenience, pavilions and balmy breezes blowing over the prairies. The idea was a good and commendable one, and these corridors have been constructed. But the windows, which are open, are not large enough to catch them from all sides. The buildings run east and west, and face north and south.

The architect, Mr. George Barry, agreed to this, and the parties moved across the street to Justice Haines' office. Here it was found that the cause had not been set for trial, and the matter was finally continued till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Ald. Warren gave a new bond of $300, with A. S. True as surety.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY.

The American Monthly for May, just out, has a well-written article on the Kinzie House, Chicago, and a fine wood-cut of the old Mansion and Fort Dearborn.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street (Janus Building), was, at 8 a.m., 63 degrees; at 10 a.m., 62; at 12 m., 62; at 4 p.m., 69; at 6 p.m., 63; Barometer, 8 a.m., 29.32.

Mr. Ezra F. Webster, for six years a confidential clerk in the employ of J. D. Easter & Co., was Wednesday stricken insensible while riding home in a buggy, and died late in the evening, aged 26 years.

An unknown man, poorly clad, was found dead at the corner of North avenue and Clark street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was taken to the Morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest to day.

S. F. Mason, one of the many Aldermanic candidates for the Board of Trade, takes exception to the statement that he ran as a Republican. He was nominated by a small club of independent voters independent of politics.

At noon yesterday, a boy named John McIntosh was run over by the cars at the Dix street crossing of the Northwestern Road, and had his legs so badly crushed as to necessitate amputation. He lives at No. 1 Leavenworth street.

The Sons of the American Revolution have removed to their new quarters, Nos. 30 and 31 Merchants' Building, on the same floor as their former rooms. Bernard Callahan, Esq., is the new president of the club, and arranged to discuss all the outstanding indebtedness. They adjourned till Monday evening, when all the members of the club are requested to attend.

THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

THE NEW COURTHOUSE.

The plan of the pavilions included a system of corridors at the north and south ends, for the use of convenience, pavilions and balmy breezes blowing over the prairies. The idea was a good and commendable one, and these corridors have been constructed. But the windows, which are open, are not large enough to catch them from all sides. The buildings run east and west, and face north and south.

The architect, Mr. George Barry, agreed to this, and the parties moved across the street to Justice Haines' office. Here it was found that the cause had not been set for trial, and the matter was finally continued till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock sharp. Ald. Warren gave a new bond of $300, with A. S. True as surety.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY.

The American Monthly for May, just out, has a well-written article on the Kinzie House, Chicago, and a fine wood-cut of the old Mansion and Fort Dearborn.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Manasse, optician, 88 Madison street (Janus Building), was, at 8 a.m., 63 degrees; at 10 a.m., 62; at 12 m., 62; at 4 p.m., 69; at 6 p.m., 63; Barometer, 8 a.m., 29.32.

Mr. Ezra F. Webster, for six years a confidential clerk in the employ of J. D. Easter & Co., was Wednesday stricken insensible while riding home in a buggy, and died late in the evening, aged 26 years.

An unknown man, poorly clad, was found dead at the corner of North avenue and Clark street about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was taken to the Morgue, where the Coroner will hold an inquest to day.

S. F. Mason, one of the many Aldermanic candidates for the Board of Trade, takes exception to the statement that he ran as a Republican. He was nominated by a small club of independent voters independent of politics.

At noon yesterday, a boy named John McIntosh was run over by the cars at the Dix street crossing of the Northwestern Road, and had his legs so badly crushed as to necessitate amputation. He lives at No. 1 Leavenworth street.

The Sons of the American Revolution have removed to their new quarters, Nos. 30 and 31 Merchants' Building, on the same floor as their former rooms. Bernard Callahan, Esq., is the new president of the club, and arranged to discuss all the outstanding indebtedness. They adjourned till Monday evening, when all the members of the club are requested to attend.

THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

THE NEW COURTHOUSE.